

Addressing Irish civil society

As part of the series “Why Development Matters?” organized by the Institute for International and European Affairs (IIEA) in Dublin, the Deputy Director of UNRIC delivered a speech on the importance of communication in the implementation of the Sustainable Development Goals. Representatives from NGOs dealing with justice, human rights and education were present in the audience and very engaged in the run up to Ireland’s National Voluntary Review at the High-level Political Forum in July 2018.
